Message from Rabbi Jan Katz

Why will this seder be different from all other sedarim?

The Spanish Jewish poet Yehuda Halevi wrote from his home country in the twelfth century: "My heart is in the East, and I am in the furthestmost West." Many of us feel similarly today, in terms of both space and time. Months have passed, but for many Jews around the world, the traumatic events of October 7 feel ever present -- and in Israel this sense is even more acute. Many of us in the Diaspora feel the emotional connection to Israel, as well as the physical distance, as much as ever. We are here, but our hearts are there. We will sit at our celebratory seder in a few weeks with family and friends, and we will still be reeling from the events of the past 7 months.

The seder is full of "fours" – the four cups, the four questions, the four children, etc. But there is another, relatively unknown, four in the Passover story from when the Israelites were standing before the sea and Pharaoh's army was approaching. According to a midrash: "The Israelites at the Red Sea were divided into four groups. One group said: Let us throw ourselves into the sea. One said: Let us return to Egypt. One said: Let us fight them; and one said: Let us cry out against them." At the moment of crisis, when they were ostensibly trapped between sword and water, the people could not agree on the proper course of action. We ourselves, as individuals, might be internally conflicted about decisions – big or small – that Israel and our communities have made in response to the act of terror and ensuing antisemitism.

Ultimately, in the Exodus story, it turns out that none of the Israelites' recommended responses carried the day. Instead, Moses pleaded that the people trust in God, and God intervened to provide redemption. While we cannot simply wait for miraculous intervention today, the midrash teaches us that we do not need to have all of the right answers, and sometimes, in moments of crisis, we simply do not know the correct path to take.

At our seders this year, let us remember that disagreement and uncertainty are inherent in the Exodus experience but that even with their conflicts the Israelites emerged from the sea as one nation, spurred on to the Promised Land under Moses' ever-present and ever-persevering leadership.

From Rabbi Eliezer Diamond: Does a catastrophe, such as the one that took place on October 7th, convince us to give up now rather than wait for some future salvation? The Haggadah is urging us to hang on. To be part of the Jewish people is to learn to keep the faith even in the worst moments, not just for one's own sake but for the sake of the people of Israel. We must live through this difficult time even though we cannot see salvation on the horizon. We can only hope that through God's help and our own efforts, we will move "from darkness to light, from enslavement to redemption."

The first and second nights of Passover fall on April 22 and April 23, 2024. At a traditional seder, three pieces of matzah are used to represent the three groups of Jews: Kohanim (high priests), Levi'im (those who assist the Kohanim) and Yisraelim (all others). This year, let us add a fourth matzah to represent a "matzah of healing (refuah)." At our sedarim, we can share the following: The war has brought Jews from around the world together in their support and love of Israel. Tonight we add this fourth matzah to our table to represent the matzah of healing (refuah). We hope this matzah will bring us healing, strength, comfort, and renewal. May the seder tables of our people be filled with reunited families and may those who are not with us be remembered with love. We pray that all those wounded by the war will achieve a Refuah shleimah (a complete recovery) through treatment, time, and love. Let our matzah of refuah bring healing, joy, hope, comfort, and renewal to all those celebrating Pesach around the world.

Every Passover, we stoke our hope. Like those who experienced the Exodus, we gather to share a meal and the stories and journey of freedom. We remember the bitterness that we have overcome and recall the promise of redemption. Together, we sing that next year will be better. Before the Israelites could know freedom, they had to have hope for freedom. Before we can make peace, we need the hope that peace is possible.

I offer the following prayer-poem of HOPE by Julie Brandon for Seder 2024:

The sea calls to me
To stand and wait
For the miracle to happen,
For the song that follows.
Shall we wade into the water
Buoyed up by faith and trust—
Grab my hand,
We'll cross together
Never to forget the bondage,
For if we do, how can we help others break free—
Hold my hand and take that first step
As we reach freedom together.

*L'shana tova b'Yerushalayim – Next year in Jerusalem
Am Yisrael Chai
Wishing you and yours a meaningful Passover 2024,
Rabbi Jan and Rabbi Alan*

Message from President Ira Keltz

Getting Ready for Pesach?

We are just 3 weeks away from Passover on 4/22 and I am looking forward to spending it outside of Detroit at the home of lifelong friends of my parents, the Marx's, who have been hosting Passover Seders for 50+ people for as long as I can remember going back almost 50 years. It's been quite a while since I have been able to participate, but this year it is happening. John and Judy, who signed Lynn and my Ketubah, are in their mid-80s and haven't lost a step. Generations of friends and family will be attending, kids I grew up with and attended college with, and people I only saw at this time of year. No one knows how many more of these will be held, so it's very special to me. My wish for you is to enjoy the folks and memories around your Passover Seder table as well.

TBI will be hosting a Model Seder in the Social Hall on Saturday April 13th at 12 Noon for members of TBI and local faith and lay leaders from the Lakes Region. A light lunch will be served and it's a great opportunity for our TBI family to gather and share the Passover Seder and Story with guests who may have not participated in a Jewish Seder before! I just hope they're ready to experience Gefilte Fish! You can register on the TBI Website - <https://tbinh.org/tbi-seder-register/> - I hope to see you all there!

As a reminder, the 2024 Best of the Lakes Region Voting runs through April 5th at 5 pm, so there are just a few more days to place your vote for TBI as the 'Best Place of Worship' under the 'Things to Do' category each day on multiple devices to ensure we can win for the 5th year in a row. The link can be found at <https://www.votelakesbest.com/>.

Warmly,

Ira

THE HIDDEN JEWS OF MAJORCA: Film Screening & Talk Back with Director (hybrid)

Wednesday, April 3, 2024 - 6:30 to 9:00 PM

Join Temple Beth Elohim (Wellesley, Ma) and the Jewish Cemetery Association of Massachusetts (JCAM) for a film screening and talkback with Dani Rotstein, director of the new documentary Xueta Island: A Hidden History, which explores the fascinating legacy of the Xuetas (pronounced Chuetas), a unique group of families on the Balearic island of Majorca, Spain who are believed to be descendants of the island's Inquisition-era Jewish population.

Though they were practicing Catholics, the Xuetas were discriminated against up until the middle of the 20th century. As Jewish life makes a tentative return to the Balearic Islands, a stifled minority is reintroduced to half-remembered culture and traditions handed down under duress across generations.

Please click the purple registration bar to be taken directly to the Temple Beth Elohim registration page whether you are attending in person or via Zoom:
